

VERY EXCITING MILITARY MOVEMENTS.

The Threatened Rebel Invasion of Maryland and Pennsylvania.

By Assistant Adjutant General G. P. Townsend and General H. H. Henshaw. They did not explain upon the grounds they made the place of being open under circumstances. It is to be regretted that they did not explain the reasons for their action. It is to be regretted that they did not explain the reasons for their action. It is to be regretted that they did not explain the reasons for their action.

HIGHLY IMPORTANT.
Invasion of the Loyal States by the Rebel Forces.
BRILLIANT ACTION AT WINCHESTER.
General Milroy Cuts His Way Through Eighteen Thousand of the Enemy.
Safe Withdrawal of the Union Troops to Harper's Ferry.
Fighting at Muddy Branch and Noland's Ferry.
Occupation of Greencastle and Chambersburg, Pennsylvania, by the Rebels Last Night.
Hooker and Lee's Entire Armies on the March.
A CALL FOR UNION REINFORCEMENTS.
Proclamations of the President, Governor Curtin and Governor Tod.
One Hundred and Twenty Thousand Men Ordered Out.
Twenty Thousand Wanted from New York.
New York City Troops Ordered to March Forward.
THE LATEST REBEL ACCOUNTS.
Glorious Action of General Milroy at Winchester.

about noon, and the latter place there had been considerable fighting. General Milroy was retreating from Winchester and Martinsburg, the lines having been broken by the rebels about eleven o'clock this morning. General Reynolds has been driven by a large force of rebels from Berryville to Buckner Hill. The enemy are also at Winchester.

All General Lee's army is moving. The tidings from Muddy Branch and Noland's Ferry indicate that war work has been going on there. The principal cities and towns of Pennsylvania are in absolute danger.

The Governor will issue another call to-morrow. The people of this State must respond if they do not want to experience all the ravages and horrors of war. As there is some objection to the present plan of operations, by the instructions of the Governor, Colonel Scott, stationed at Washington on a special train this evening, to urge upon the national authorities such a modification of the plan as will suit the views of the people.

A message upon no reply can be obtained as yet. The Governor will not doubt decide to it. The Unionists are the capitalists will advance the money for the military, trusting to the general government for reimbursement.

A message of the moneyed corporations of the State will be held to-morrow morning to take into consideration the present state of affairs. Governor Curtin will telegraph to Major Henry, of Philadelphia, full news up to that hour.

The cavalry was ordered here and in the interior of the State are being organized and armed, and those at other places are being sent here. Of the measures of defense I am not permitted to speak.

Every arrangement for the quick transportation of troops to this point has been completed, under the direction of General Couch.

Evacuation of Winchester by Our Troops—The State and Railroad Rolling Stock Removed.
Winchester, June 15, 1863.

A despatch from Greencastle, Pa., June 15, 1863, dated at half-past ten o'clock this morning, reports as follows: Our troops are now passing here, and retreat from Greencastle to Chambersburg.

Greencastle has been evacuated. All the rolling stock of the railroad and all the stores have been removed.

Rumor has the rebel force at ten thousand, but this is probably an exaggeration.

Important Despatch from Governor Curtin—General Lee's Army at Winchester.
Philadelphia, June 15, 1863.

The following despatch has been received by Governor Curtin from Governor Tod:

Wm. G. Thomas, Philadelphia:—The President calls for a hundred thousand men, for a term not exceeding six months. All men so raised are to be recruited to the draft.

General Lee's army is approaching in force. We must have men immediately to check him. Can you not raise a force at once?

The men are to be equipped and paid by the United States.

The Washington Telegrams.
Washington, June 15, 1863.

The messenger mentioned in the Baltimore papers of this morning as having come past here through Baltimore, proved to be Hon. Thomas A. Scott, late Assistant Secretary of War, bearing despatches from Gov. Curtin. The purpose of the despatch had, however, already been anticipated by the preparation of the President's proclamation calling for one hundred thousand men from Pennsylvania, Ohio, Western Virginia and Maryland. These are the States immediately threatened by the rebel offensive movement.

It has been ascertained that the movement of the rebel army into Maryland and Pennsylvania is the consummation of a project long entertained. It was attempted ten months ago, when General Lee left Richmond with one hundred and fifty thousand men, but lost one-third of his whole force in killed, wounded, missing and deserters, up to the time of his recrossing the Potomac. For this reason the attempt was abandoned.

Upon this occasion he has started under more favorable auspices. Vicksburg and Fort Hudson, as well as Richmond, have been fortified to the utmost extent of military engineering skill. They have been well provisioned and garrisoned, and while the attack upon these Western strongholds has been progressing, forces have been concentrated in Virginia for offensive demonstrations against Pennsylvania and Ohio.

Pittsburg and Harrisburg are the principal points aimed at. The main body of the rebel army has been hurried down the Shenandoah valley and burst against the insignificant forces at Berryville, Winchester and Martinsburg. It is altogether the most bold and daring enterprise of the whole war. The army of General Lee is stretched along the Shenandoah valley for many miles.

No apprehension is now entertained of an attack upon the defenses of Washington, but there is reason to fear that the rebel army under General Lee will attempt to make good the threat to participate in the democratic convention to be held in Harrisburg on Wednesday next.

It is not proper to mention in a despatch the disposition of the federal forces, but precautions have been taken to intercept the retreat of this immense rebel raid into the free States.

In the new arrangement of the cavalry Gen. Pleasanton commands the corps, Gen. Gregg the right wing, and Gen. Buford the left wing. Col. Wyndham, who will probably be made a brigadier general for his gallantry in various battles, has been assigned to the command of a division. Col. Kilpatrick has been made a Brigadier General to-day.

The Herald correspondent, Mr. Bullock, who was taken prisoner in the battle of Beverly Ford, was accompanying Captain Forbes, as bearer of despatches from General Gregg, instead of General Buford, as previously stated. Colonel Duff had made a detour and attacked at the rear the portion of the enemy when Col. Wyndham had engaged in front. In the meantime, it was ascertained that the enemy were in much greater strength than was anticipated, and Gen. Gregg desired to recall Col. Duff to support Gen. Wyndham's attack. The distance to be traveled was two miles, across a country filled with rebel skirmishers, and the bearers of the message were advised to go around to the rear, but they dashed across the country occupied by the enemy, and were overpowered.

Army Movements.
(from the National Intelligence, June 15.)

The city was rife yesterday with various statements regarding the Army of the Potomac, too vague to be reported, and not proper for publication, perhaps, it is to be true. It may be mentioned generally, however, as probable, that General Hooker is moving his army from the Rappahannock, in consequence, it may be, of movements on the part of General Lee; a fact derived from the transfer to Alexandria, at five from Annapolis and the withdrawal of troops from that point. Another circumstance which gives some idea of the movement of General Hooker's army forward or backward is the fact that the Army of the Potomac is now at the Rappahannock, in consequence, it may be, of movements on the part of General Lee; a fact derived from the transfer to Alexandria, at five from Annapolis and the withdrawal of troops from that point.

The Harrisburg Telegrams.
Harrisburg, Pa., June 14, 1863.

Despatches received to-day from the operators at Chambersburg and Greencastle give information derived from negroes who have arrived there to the effect that the rebel cavalry arrived at Berryville and Martinsburg

THE CALL FOR TROOPS.

PROCLAMATION BY PRESIDENT LINCOLN.

He Calls for One Hundred Thousand Militia.

Washington, June 15, 1863.

BY THE PRESIDENT OF THE UNITED STATES OF AMERICA.

A PROCLAMATION.

Whereas, the armed insurrectionary combinations now existing in several of the States are threatening to make broad into the States of Maryland, West Virginia, Pennsylvania and Ohio, requiring immediately an additional military force for the service of the United States;

Now, therefore, I, Abraham Lincoln, President of the United States, and Commander in Chief of the Army and Navy thereof, and of the militia of the several States when called into actual service, do hereby call into the service of the United States one hundred thousand militia from the States following, namely:

From the State of Maryland ten thousand.
From the State of Ohio thirty thousand.
From the State of West Virginia ten thousand.

To be mustered into the service of the United States forthwith, and to serve for the period of six months from the date of such muster into said service, unless sooner discharged; to be mustered in as infantry, artillery and cavalry, in proportions which will be made known through the War Department, which department will also designate the several places of rendezvous.

These militia are to be organized according to the rules and regulations of the volunteer service, and such orders as may hereafter be issued.

The States should be respectively credited under the enlistment act for the militia service rendered under this proclamation.

In testimony whereof I have hereunto set my hand and caused the seal of the United States to be affixed.

Done at the city of Washington, this 15th day of June, in the year of our Lord 1863, and of the independence of the United States the thirty-seventh.

By the President:

ABRAHAM LINCOLN.

Wm. H. Howard, Secretary of State.

New York Called Upon for Twenty Thousand Men—Response of the City Troops.

AMARY, June 15, 1863.

The governor received to-day a telegram from Washington, calling for twenty thousand militia immediately.

He has summoned the several Major Generals of the militia to Albany for consultation, and taken steps for the rapid organization of the militia.

General Sanford telegraphs that he can bring out five thousand men without delay, and the general commanding the Eighth Division promises two thousand more.

A draft will be made under the State law to fill up to their maximum number all the militia regiments in the State, and from these the twenty thousand will be supplied.

They are called upon to serve six months, and will be credited to the State as three years' men under the impending national draft. They are to serve without State or national bounties.

Orders to the City Troops.
SPECIAL ORDER.

HEADQUARTERS, First New York N. Y. S. M. G., New York, June 15, 1863.

By order of the Commander in Chief of the State of New York, the several regiments of the militia will be called upon to respond in readiness to depart for Philadelphia, at once, on short notice. By order of

Brigadier General C. B. SPENCER, New York, June 15, 1863.

Wm. H. Howard, Secretary of State.

ORDER NO. 3.

HEADQUARTERS, 44th Broadway, New York, June 15, 1863.

THE CALL FOR TROOPS.

PROCLAMATION BY PRESIDENT LINCOLN.

He Calls for One Hundred Thousand Militia.

Washington, June 15, 1863.

BY THE PRESIDENT OF THE UNITED STATES OF AMERICA.

A PROCLAMATION.

Whereas, the armed insurrectionary combinations now existing in several of the States are threatening to make broad into the States of Maryland, West Virginia, Pennsylvania and Ohio, requiring immediately an additional military force for the service of the United States;

Now, therefore, I, Abraham Lincoln, President of the United States, and Commander in Chief of the Army and Navy thereof, and of the militia of the several States when called into actual service, do hereby call into the service of the United States one hundred thousand militia from the States following, namely:

From the State of Maryland ten thousand.
From the State of Ohio thirty thousand.
From the State of West Virginia ten thousand.

To be mustered into the service of the United States forthwith, and to serve for the period of six months from the date of such muster into said service, unless sooner discharged; to be mustered in as infantry, artillery and cavalry, in proportions which will be made known through the War Department, which department will also designate the several places of rendezvous.

These militia are to be organized according to the rules and regulations of the volunteer service, and such orders as may hereafter be issued.

The States should be respectively credited under the enlistment act for the militia service rendered under this proclamation.

In testimony whereof I have hereunto set my hand and caused the seal of the United States to be affixed.

Done at the city of Washington, this 15th day of June, in the year of our Lord 1863, and of the independence of the United States the thirty-seventh.

By the President:

ABRAHAM LINCOLN.

Wm. H. Howard, Secretary of State.

New York Called Upon for Twenty Thousand Men—Response of the City Troops.

AMARY, June 15, 1863.

The governor received to-day a telegram from Washington, calling for twenty thousand militia immediately.

He has summoned the several Major Generals of the militia to Albany for consultation, and taken steps for the rapid organization of the militia.

General Sanford telegraphs that he can bring out five thousand men without delay, and the general commanding the Eighth Division promises two thousand more.

A draft will be made under the State law to fill up to their maximum number all the militia regiments in the State, and from these the twenty thousand will be supplied.

They are called upon to serve six months, and will be credited to the State as three years' men under the impending national draft. They are to serve without State or national bounties.

Orders to the City Troops.
SPECIAL ORDER.

HEADQUARTERS, First New York N. Y. S. M. G., New York, June 15, 1863.

By order of the Commander in Chief of the State of New York, the several regiments of the militia will be called upon to respond in readiness to depart for Philadelphia, at once, on short notice. By order of

Brigadier General C. B. SPENCER, New York, June 15, 1863.

Wm. H. Howard, Secretary of State.

ORDER NO. 3.

HEADQUARTERS, 44th Broadway, New York, June 15, 1863.

measure an enthusiasm which danger to our own State. The soldiers called to defend the State should not be required to run any risk as to pay, and will not be for us. The soldiers called to defend the State should not be required to run any risk as to pay, and will not be for us. The soldiers called to defend the State should not be required to run any risk as to pay, and will not be for us.

(From the Philadelphia Press, June 15.)

In the absence of any definite intelligence from the rebels or their army, we can only speculate upon the meaning of the news and rumors now before us. Our State has been divided into two military departments, and the Governor has published a proclamation. Our city there are hordes of militia quality organizing, and advertisements are cropping into the papers calling upon the people to raise for the defense of the State. General Couch, one of the bravest officers of the Army of the Potomac, has placed his headquarters in Harrisburg, and is busily engaged in arranging for that defense. In what particular way the State is to be defended we are not sure. The rebels may be menacing the Cumberland valley, with the view of repeating General Stuart's raid; or they may be moving to the westward, and harrying our rear, by advancing over the mountains and along the valley of the Monongahela towards Pittsburgh. Against either emergency our authorities have been prepared to prepare, and the best evidence that there is danger is the fact that two general orders are necessary to superintend the work. These preparations have given rise to many rumors, and to a feeling of uneasiness in the minds of our citizens. We shall have a repetition of the last year's campaign in these present summer months. The evidence is that the rebels are moving to the westward, and harrying our rear, by advancing over the mountains and along the valley of the Monongahela towards Pittsburgh. Against either emergency our authorities have been prepared to prepare, and the best evidence that there is danger is the fact that two general orders are necessary to superintend the work. These preparations have given rise to many rumors, and to a feeling of uneasiness in the minds of our citizens. We shall have a repetition of the last year's campaign in these present summer months. The evidence is that the rebels are moving to the westward, and harrying our rear, by advancing over the mountains and along the valley of the Monongahela towards Pittsburgh. Against either emergency our authorities have been prepared to prepare, and the best evidence that there is danger is the fact that two general orders are necessary to superintend the work. These preparations have given rise to many rumors, and to a feeling of uneasiness in the minds of our citizens. We shall have a repetition of the last year's campaign in these present summer months. The evidence is that the rebels are moving to the westward, and harrying our rear, by advancing over the mountains and along the valley of the Monongahela towards Pittsburgh. Against either emergency our authorities have been prepared to prepare, and the best evidence that there is danger is the fact that two general orders are necessary to superintend the work. These preparations have given rise to many rumors, and to a feeling of uneasiness in the minds of our citizens. We shall have a repetition of the last year's campaign in these present summer months. The evidence is that the rebels are moving to the westward, and harrying our rear, by advancing over the mountains and along the valley of the Monongahela towards Pittsburgh. Against either emergency our authorities have been prepared to prepare, and the best evidence that there is danger is the fact that two general orders are necessary to superintend the work. These preparations have given rise to many rumors, and to a feeling of uneasiness in the minds of our citizens. We shall have a repetition of the last year's campaign in these present summer months. The evidence is that the rebels are moving to the westward, and harrying our rear, by advancing over the mountains and along the valley of the Monongahela towards Pittsburgh. Against either emergency our authorities have been prepared to prepare, and the best evidence that there is danger is the fact that two general orders are necessary to superintend the work. These preparations have given rise to many rumors, and to a feeling of uneasiness in the minds of our citizens. We shall have a repetition of the last year's campaign in these present summer months. The evidence is that the rebels are moving to the westward, and harrying our rear, by advancing over the mountains and along the valley of the Monongahela towards Pittsburgh. Against either emergency our authorities have been prepared to prepare, and the best evidence that there is danger is the fact that two general orders are necessary to superintend the work. These preparations have given rise to many rumors, and to a feeling of uneasiness in the minds of our citizens. We shall have a repetition of the last year's campaign in these present summer months. The evidence is that the rebels are moving to the westward, and harrying our rear, by advancing over the mountains and along the valley of the Monongahela towards Pittsburgh. Against either emergency our authorities have been prepared to prepare, and the best evidence that there is danger is the fact that two general orders are necessary to superintend the work. These preparations have given rise to many rumors, and to a feeling of uneasiness in the minds of our citizens. We shall have a repetition of the last year's campaign in these present summer months. The evidence is that the rebels are moving to the westward, and harrying our rear, by advancing over the mountains and along the valley of the Monongahela towards Pittsburgh. Against either emergency our authorities have been prepared to prepare, and the best evidence that there is danger is the fact that two general orders are necessary to superintend the work. These preparations have given rise to many rumors, and to a feeling of uneasiness in the minds of our citizens. We shall have a repetition of the last year's campaign in these present summer months. The evidence is that the rebels are moving to the westward, and harrying our rear, by advancing over the mountains and along the valley of the Monongahela towards Pittsburgh. Against either emergency our authorities have been prepared to prepare, and the best evidence that there is danger is the fact that two general orders are necessary to superintend the work. These preparations have given rise to many rumors, and to a feeling of uneasiness in the minds of our citizens. We shall have a repetition of the last year's campaign in these present summer months. The evidence is that the rebels are moving to the westward, and harrying our rear, by advancing over the mountains and along the valley of the Monongahela towards Pittsburgh. Against either emergency our authorities have been prepared to prepare, and the best evidence that there is danger is the fact that two general orders are necessary to superintend the work. These preparations have given rise to many rumors, and to a feeling of uneasiness in the minds of our citizens. We shall have a repetition of the last year's campaign in these present summer months. The evidence is that the rebels are moving to the westward, and harrying our rear, by advancing over the mountains and along the valley of the Monongahela towards Pittsburgh. Against either emergency our authorities have been prepared to prepare, and the best evidence that there is danger is the fact that two general orders are necessary to superintend the work. These preparations have given rise to many rumors, and to a feeling of uneasiness in the minds of our citizens. We shall have a repetition of the last year's campaign in these present summer months. The evidence is that the rebels are moving to the westward, and harrying our rear, by advancing over the mountains and along the valley of the Monongahela towards Pittsburgh. Against either emergency our authorities have been prepared to prepare, and the best evidence that there is danger is the fact that two general orders are necessary to superintend the work. These preparations have given rise to many rumors, and to a feeling of uneasiness in the minds of our citizens. We shall have a repetition of the last year's campaign in these present summer months. The evidence is that the rebels are moving to the westward, and harrying our rear, by advancing over the mountains and along the valley of the Monongahela towards Pittsburgh. Against either emergency our authorities have been prepared to prepare, and the best evidence that there is danger is the fact that two general orders are necessary to superintend the work. These preparations have given rise to many rumors, and to a feeling of uneasiness in the minds of our citizens. We shall have a repetition of the last year's campaign in these present summer months. The evidence is that the rebels are moving to the westward, and harrying our rear, by advancing over the mountains and along the valley of the Monongahela towards Pittsburgh. Against either emergency our authorities have been prepared to prepare, and the best evidence that there is danger is the fact that two general orders are necessary to superintend the work. These preparations have given rise to many rumors, and to a feeling of uneasiness in the minds of our citizens. We shall have a repetition of the last year's campaign in these present summer months. The evidence is that the rebels are moving to the westward, and harrying our rear, by advancing over the mountains and along the valley of the Monongahela towards Pittsburgh. Against either emergency our authorities have been prepared to prepare, and the best evidence that there is danger is the fact that two general orders are necessary to superintend the work. These preparations have given rise to many rumors, and to a feeling of uneasiness in the minds of our citizens. We shall have a repetition of the last year's campaign in these present summer months. The evidence is that the rebels are moving to the westward, and harrying our rear, by advancing over the mountains and along the valley of the Monongahela towards Pittsburgh. Against either emergency our authorities have been prepared to prepare, and the best evidence that there is danger is the fact that two general orders are necessary to superintend the work. These preparations have given rise to many rumors, and to a feeling of uneasiness in the minds of our citizens. We shall have a repetition of the last year's campaign in these present summer months. The evidence is that the rebels are moving to the westward, and harrying our rear, by advancing over the mountains and along the valley of the Monongahela towards Pittsburgh. Against either emergency our authorities have been prepared to prepare, and the best evidence that there is danger is the fact that two general orders are necessary to superintend the work. These preparations have given rise to many rumors, and to a feeling of uneasiness in the minds of our citizens. We shall have a repetition of the last year's campaign in these present summer months. The evidence is that the rebels are moving to the westward, and harrying our rear, by advancing over the mountains and along the valley of the Monongahela towards Pittsburgh. Against either emergency our authorities have been prepared to prepare, and the best evidence that there is danger is the fact that two general orders are necessary to superintend the work. These preparations have given rise to many rumors, and to a feeling of uneasiness in the minds of our citizens. We shall have a repetition of the last year's campaign in these present summer months. The evidence is that the rebels are moving to the westward, and harrying our rear, by advancing over the mountains and along the valley of the Monongahela towards Pittsburgh. Against either emergency our authorities have been prepared to prepare, and the best evidence that there is danger is the fact that two general orders are necessary to superintend the work. These preparations have given rise to many rumors, and to a feeling of uneasiness in the minds of our citizens. We shall have a repetition of the last year's campaign in these present summer months. The evidence is that the rebels are moving to the westward, and harrying our rear, by advancing over the mountains and along the valley of the Monongahela towards Pittsburgh. Against either emergency our authorities have been prepared to prepare, and the best evidence that there is danger is the fact that two general orders are necessary to superintend the work. These preparations have given rise to many rumors, and to a feeling of uneasiness in the minds of our citizens. We shall have a repetition of the last year's campaign in these present summer months. The evidence is that the rebels are moving to the westward, and harrying our rear, by advancing over the mountains and along the valley of the Monongahela towards Pittsburgh. Against either emergency our authorities have been prepared to prepare, and the best evidence that there is danger is the fact that two general orders are necessary to superintend the work. These preparations have given rise to many rumors, and to a feeling of uneasiness in the minds of our citizens. We shall have a repetition of the last year's campaign in these present summer months. The evidence is that the rebels are moving to the westward, and harrying our rear, by advancing over the mountains and along the valley of the Monongahela towards Pittsburgh. Against either emergency our authorities have been prepared to prepare, and the best evidence that there is danger is the fact that two general orders are necessary to superintend the work. These preparations have given rise to many rumors, and to a feeling of uneasiness in the minds of our citizens. We shall have a repetition of the last year's campaign in these present summer months. The evidence is that the rebels are moving to the westward, and harrying our rear, by advancing over the mountains and along the valley of the Monongahela towards Pittsburgh. Against either emergency our authorities have been prepared to prepare, and the best evidence that there is danger is the fact that two general orders are necessary to superintend the work. These preparations have given rise to many rumors, and to a feeling of uneasiness in the minds of our citizens. We shall have a repetition of the last year's campaign in these present summer months. The evidence is that the rebels are moving to the westward, and harrying our rear, by advancing over the mountains and along the valley of the Monongahela towards Pittsburgh. Against either emergency our authorities have been prepared to prepare, and the best evidence that there is danger is the fact that two general orders are necessary to superintend the work. These preparations have given rise to many rumors, and to a feeling of uneasiness in the minds of our citizens. We shall have a repetition of the last year's campaign in these present summer months. The evidence is that the rebels are moving to the westward, and harrying our rear, by advancing over the mountains and along the valley of the Monongahela towards Pittsburgh. Against either emergency our authorities have been prepared to prepare, and the best evidence that there is danger is the fact that two general orders are necessary to superintend the work. These preparations have given rise to many rumors, and to a feeling of uneasiness in the minds of our citizens. We shall have a repetition of the last year's campaign in these present summer months. The evidence is that the rebels are moving to the westward, and harrying our rear, by advancing over the mountains and along the valley of the Monongahela towards Pittsburgh. Against either emergency our authorities have been prepared to prepare, and the best evidence that there is danger is the fact that two general orders are necessary to superintend the work. These preparations have given rise to many rumors, and to a feeling of uneasiness in the minds of our citizens. We shall have a repetition of the last year's campaign in these present summer months. The evidence is that the rebels are moving to the westward, and harrying our rear, by advancing over the mountains and along the valley of the Monongahela towards Pittsburgh. Against either emergency our authorities have been prepared to prepare, and the best evidence that there is danger is the fact that two general orders are necessary to superintend the work. These preparations have given rise to many rumors, and to a feeling of uneasiness in the minds of our citizens. We shall have a repetition of the last year's campaign in these present summer months. The evidence is that the rebels are moving to the westward, and harrying our rear, by advancing over the mountains and along the valley of the Monongahela towards Pittsburgh. Against either emergency our authorities have been prepared to prepare, and the best evidence that there is danger is the fact that two general orders are necessary to superintend the work. These preparations have given rise to many rumors, and to a feeling of uneasiness in the minds of our citizens. We shall have a repetition of the last year's campaign in these present summer months. The evidence is that the rebels are moving to the westward, and harrying our rear, by advancing over the mountains and along the valley of the Monongahela towards Pittsburgh. Against either emergency our authorities have been prepared to prepare, and the best evidence that there is danger is the fact that two general orders are necessary to superintend the work. These preparations have given rise to many rumors, and to a feeling of uneasiness in the minds of our citizens. We shall have a repetition of the last year's campaign in these present summer months. The evidence is that the rebels are moving to the westward, and harrying our rear, by advancing over the mountains and along the valley of the Monongahela towards Pittsburgh. Against either emergency our authorities have been prepared to prepare, and the best evidence that there is danger is the fact that two general orders are necessary to superintend the work. These preparations have given rise to many rumors, and to a feeling of uneasiness in the minds of our citizens. We shall have a repetition of the last year's campaign in these present summer months. The evidence is that the rebels are moving to the westward, and harrying our rear, by advancing over the mountains and along the valley of the Monongahela towards Pittsburgh. Against either emergency our authorities have been prepared to prepare, and the best evidence that there is danger is the fact that two general orders are necessary to superintend the work. These preparations have given rise to many rumors, and to a feeling of uneasiness in the minds of our citizens. We shall have a repetition of the last year's campaign in these present summer months. The evidence is that the rebels are moving to the westward, and harrying our rear, by advancing over the mountains and along the valley of the Monongahela towards Pittsburgh. Against either emergency our authorities have been prepared to prepare, and the best evidence that there is danger is the fact that two general orders are necessary to superintend the work. These preparations have given rise to many rumors, and to a feeling of uneasiness in the minds of our citizens. We shall have a repetition of the last year's campaign in these present summer months. The evidence is that the rebels are moving to the westward, and harrying our rear, by advancing over the mountains and along the valley of the Monongahela towards Pittsburgh. Against either emergency our authorities have been prepared to prepare, and the best evidence that there is danger is the fact that two general orders are necessary to superintend the work. These preparations have given rise to many rumors, and to a feeling of uneasiness in the minds of our citizens. We shall have a repetition of the last year's campaign in these present summer months. The evidence is that the rebels are moving to the westward, and harrying our rear, by advancing over the mountains and along the valley of the Monongahela towards Pittsburgh. Against either emergency our authorities have been prepared to prepare, and the best evidence that there is danger is the fact that two general orders are necessary to superintend the work. These preparations have given rise to many rumors, and to a feeling of uneasiness in the minds of our citizens. We shall have a repetition of the last year's campaign in these present summer months. The evidence is that the rebels are moving to the westward, and harrying our rear, by advancing over the mountains and along the valley of the Monongahela towards Pittsburgh. Against either emergency our authorities have been prepared to prepare, and the best evidence that there is danger is the fact that two general orders are necessary to superintend the work. These preparations have given rise to many rumors, and to a feeling of uneasiness in the minds of our citizens. We shall have a repetition of the last year's campaign in these present summer months. The evidence is that the rebels are moving to the westward, and harrying our rear, by advancing over the mountains and along the valley of the Monongahela towards Pittsburgh. Against either emergency our authorities have been prepared to prepare, and the best evidence that there is danger is the fact that two general orders are necessary to superintend the work. These preparations have given rise to many rumors, and to a feeling of uneasiness in the minds of our citizens. We shall have a repetition of the last year's campaign in these present summer months. The evidence is that the rebels are moving to the westward, and harrying our rear, by advancing over the mountains and along the valley of the Monongahela towards Pittsburgh. Against either emergency our authorities have been prepared to prepare, and the best evidence that there is danger is the fact that two general orders are necessary to superintend the work. These preparations have given rise to many rumors, and to a feeling of uneasiness in the minds of our citizens. We shall have a repetition of the last year's campaign in these present summer months. The evidence is that the rebels are moving to the westward, and harrying our rear, by advancing over the mountains and along the valley of the Monongahela towards Pittsburgh. Against either emergency our authorities have been prepared to prepare, and the best evidence that there is danger is the fact that two general orders are necessary to superintend the work. These preparations have given rise to many rumors, and to a feeling of uneasiness in the minds of our citizens. We shall have a repetition of the last year's campaign in these present summer months. The evidence is that the rebels are moving to the westward, and harrying our rear, by advancing over the mountains and along the valley of the Monongahela towards Pittsburgh. Against either emergency our authorities have been prepared to prepare, and the best evidence that there is danger is the fact that two general orders are necessary to superintend the work. These preparations have given rise to many rumors, and to a feeling of uneasiness in the minds of our citizens. We shall have a repetition of the last year's campaign in these present summer months. The evidence is that the rebels are moving to the westward, and harrying our rear, by advancing over the mountains and along the valley of the Monongahela towards Pittsburgh. Against either emergency our authorities have been prepared to prepare, and the best evidence that there is danger is the fact that two general orders are necessary to superintend the work. These preparations have given rise to many rumors, and to a feeling of uneasiness in the minds of our citizens. We shall have a repetition of the last year's campaign in these present summer months. The evidence is that the rebels are moving to the westward, and harrying our rear, by advancing over the mountains and along the valley of the Monongahela towards Pittsburgh. Against either emergency our authorities have been prepared to prepare, and the best evidence that there is danger is the fact that two general orders are necessary to superintend the work. These preparations have given rise to many rumors, and to a feeling of uneasiness in the minds of our citizens. We shall have a repetition of the last year's campaign in these present summer months. The evidence is that the rebels are moving to the westward, and harrying our rear, by advancing over the mountains and along the valley of the Monongahela towards Pittsburgh. Against either emergency our authorities have been prepared to prepare, and the best evidence that there is danger is the fact that two general orders are necessary to superintend the work. These preparations have given rise to many rumors, and to a feeling of uneasiness in the minds of our citizens. We shall have a repetition of the last year's campaign in these present summer months. The evidence is that the rebels are moving to the westward, and harrying our rear, by advancing over the mountains and along the valley of the Monongahela towards Pittsburgh. Against either emergency our authorities have been prepared to prepare, and the best evidence that there is danger is the fact that two general orders are necessary to superintend the work. These preparations have given rise to many rumors, and to a feeling of uneasiness in the minds of our citizens. We shall have a repetition of the last year's campaign in these present summer months. The evidence is that the rebels are moving to the westward, and harrying our rear, by advancing over the mountains and along the valley of the Monongahela towards Pittsburgh. Against either emergency our authorities have been prepared to prepare, and the best evidence that there is danger is the fact that two general orders are necessary